

LE TRAIT D'UNION, as it stands in a mirroring pool on the Donald Duncan estate.

Statue Made for Napoleon Graces Garden of Palm Springs Connoisseur

When Napoleon Bonaparte III was emperor of France, 1852 to 1870, the absolute powers of Napoleon I were gone, but the political expediency of kowtowing to the throne remained.

Political pressure was ever-present, as it is today—only the strategy was different.

So it was that an unidentified seeker for Napoleonic favors caused the creation of a famous statue now gracing a Palm Springs estate.

This now-unknown man commissioned the Italian sculptor Marcelin in 1853 to create a figure in stone worthy of gracing Napoleon's garden. The result was the statue shown above, entitled Le Trait d'Union, or the union of baby and mother, carved from Carrara marble.

The history of the statue after its gift to Napoleon III is not clear, except that it was discovered after the war among the contents of a French castle that were being sold. Later, a private museum which acquired the figure likewise put its possessions on the market, where the statue was seen last year by Donald F. Duncan, 457 Hermosa Place, Palm Springs parking meter and yo-yo magnate.

The story of its transfer from Paris to Palm Springs is almost as intriguing as the story of its origin.

Duncan gladly plunked down the $6,000 price for the statue, but getting his purchase home was more difficult. Because of French restrictions on the movement of currency and articles valued at more than $500, he faced the possibility that export of the statue would be forbidden if its true value were declared. But it was not declared, the fragile, 2,000-pound carving and its equally heavy pedestal might get mixed on shipboard with mine-run freight and received rough handling.

He solved the problem by having the figure carefully packed in a shabby-looking box and declaring its value at $500. The cost of packing, carrying $5,000 insurance, and transportation ran nearly half the original cost.

Today, however, Le Trait d'Union and its bronze-embossed base stand on the Duncan grounds in the middle of a placid lily pond, flood-lighted at night and shaded by huge trees by day.

Last month Duncan and his wife, a native of France, returned to Paris in search of another statue of the same model, reputed also to have been made by Marcelin.

Another Police Clerk Resigns

Pat Gensberg, clerk at the Palm Springs Police Department, tendered his resignation to Chief of Police August G. Kettmann Thursday, to become effective July 11. She has been with the department since September, 1953.

Miss Gensberg, who said she was going to Las Vegas, Nev., is the second clerk to leave this summer. Mary Heffner left earlier this month.

Chief Kettmann said today that a call is out for applications for the positions vacated in the department, and that application can be made with the Chief of Police or City Manager R. W. Peterson.

Council Freezes Sizes of Lots

Acting to stop what it called an excessive number of split-ups of large estate sites, the City Council Wednesday froze present lot sizes within the city until further study can be made of the problem.

Planning Director Raes pointed out many of the large lots in the older sections of Palm Springs are being bought and divided into two or more building sites, and urged a halt be called until a wise long-term policy can be devised.

An ordinance carrying out his recommendation was voted, with an emergency clause making it immediately effective.

Charity Censor Law Tabled Till Season Begins

The embattled proposal for a Palm Springs Social Service Commission suffered a temporary defeat Wednesday night when the City Council voted to table it for further study.

Consensus appeared to be there was no hurry for its passage since several months would elapse before the fall season brought on the wave of charity drives the commission is designed to censor. The tabling decision came after Rabbi Leon Rosenberg of the Jewish Community Center renewed his attack on some provisions of the ordinance, although he said he was in favor of it in principle.

HE CRITICIZED what he called its unrealistic definition of fraud, its lack of investigative personnel and funds and its failure to put "positive responsibilities" on the commission.

"I want a charity control ordinance," he said, "but I want a positive one, not a punitive one. By the most conservative estimate, enforcement of this ordinance, for which no funds are now provided, will cost from $6,000 to $10,000 a year. I don't think the results will warrant it."

By way of emphasizing the inadvisability of putting the investigative duties on the city clerk rather than a hired social service worker, he said, "It is a disgrace that Palm Springs has only a nine-month Community Chest. We need a commission that can do a charity selling job. We also need at least one full-time social service worker."

Earlier he said, "We already have laws covering charity frauds if they exist. This proposed ordinance won't keep out the nefarious promoter, and will only create a hardship on existing charities."

MRS. MELBA BENNETT, a member of the citizens committee which helped City Attorney Jerry Bunker draw the ordinance, urged the law be given a year's trial at least.

"Most of our charities are worthy," she said. "We want only to discourage those promoters who come into Palm Springs because it has a reputation for wealth and generosity. We want to look over the ones we don't know about. Of course, the charities that have operated here for years will be protected."

The proposed law would require fund-raising proposals to file with a five-member commission a notice of intention to raise funds. The commission, lacking legal prohibition powers, would rely on publicity and public opinion to discourage the drives it disapproved.

Village Bank Clearings Set May Record

Institutions Here Disclose Business Index for First Time

Bank clearings in Palm Springs rose a whopping 25 per cent in May over the same month a year ago, to reach the highest point for any May since the war, it was disclosed today.

Also for the first time, this fundamental index of the Village's financial activity became available to the public. At the request of The Desert Sun, the Citizens National Bank and the Bank of America here disclosed their total clearings for April and May of 1955 and 1956. Similar totals will be revealed monthly hereafter, they said.

Total in-city clearings for last May, they reported, were $21,372,132 as compared to $17,168,575 for May of 1955, a gain of $4,203,557. It was the highest May since the wartime paydays in nearby camps, and wartime contract payments sent Palm Springs bank clearings to record but unnatural highs.

April of this year also established a monthly high, when clearings totaled $22,245,596, or $4,418,377 more than the $17,827,219 recorded for April of 1955.

FROM ANOTHER angle, too, the figures are significant. During May, the month regarded as the tapering-off period for Village business activity, clearings dropped less than $1,000,000—from $22,245,596 at the end of April to $21,372,132 at the end of May. The same was true for April and May of 1955.

It is worthy of note that the totals compiled by the two banks here include only the check drawn by their own customers on the banks here, money orders, and checks drawn by the City of Palm Springs on its own deposits.

It does not include checks drawn by residents on outside banks, or any clearings made by local banks through outside institutions.

HERBERT SAMSON and Fred Ingram, heads of the Citizens and Bank of America banks here, respectively, both estimate the clearings figure would double were those exclusions taken into the totals.

"Many Palm Springs seasonal residents live here for months by checking on hometown accounts," said Samson. "Were those figures included, or were they to open accounts in Village banks, the clearing here would rise substantially."

The good showing achieved by the season's-end May was attributed to a continuing high level of retail business volume during that month, a continued good pace in residential and business construction, an unusual volume of bond issue building by the city, and longer-staying guests.

HOWEVER, THESE advantages are offset somewhat by the fact more on-season guests means more will be leaving at season's end and more will be checking on out-of-town banks—which figures are not included in the Palm Springs clearings total.

"Clearings are falling off less and less at the end of each season," Ingram said.

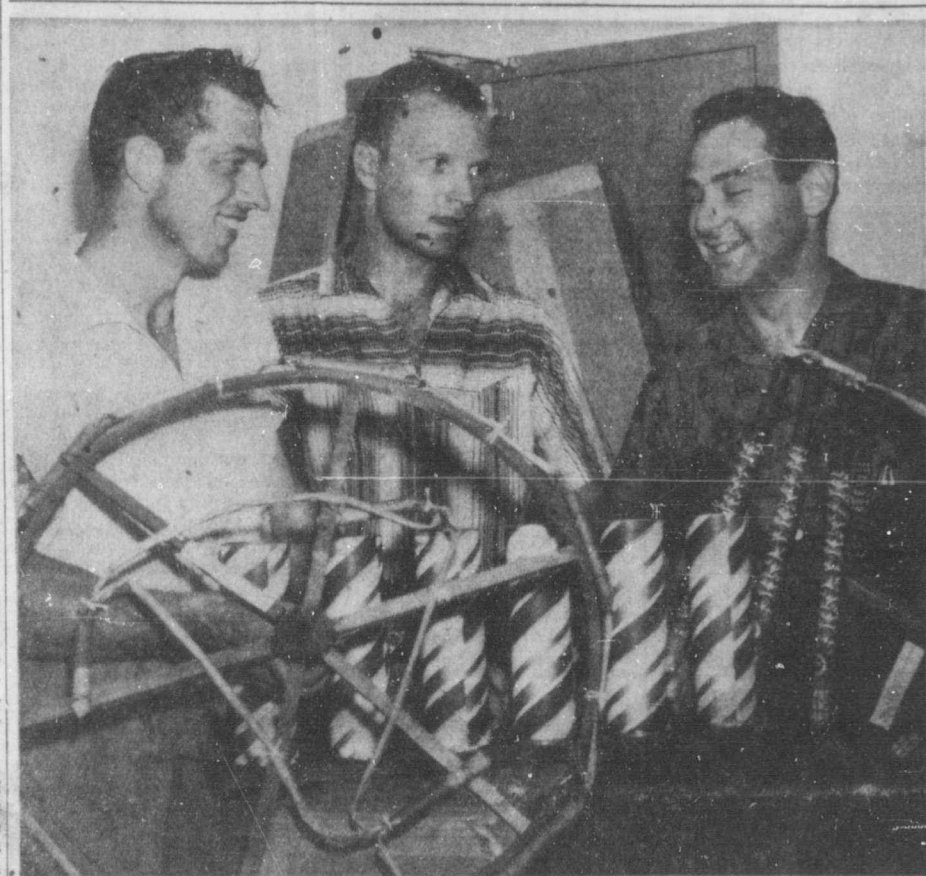

Another index supporting the banks' findings is receipts of the Palm Springs post office. Last May, according to Postmaster Merritt Williams, postal receipts were $17,954 as compared to $16,061 for the same month in 1955, an increase of $1,893.

Perkins Granted Delay by Court

Laurence Perkins, accused hatchet slayer of his wife in a Palm Springs trailer park, was granted a continuance Friday after he faced Indio Superior Court on a murder indictment.

Superior Judge McCabe continued the proceedings until July 13 on the plea of Perkins' attorney, William Shaw, that he had not received a transcript of testimony at the June 29 grand jury hearing which resulted in the indictment.

Ted Land, chairman for the fourth Annual Fourth of July Fireworks Show at the Polo Grounds announced today completion of plans and program for the evening's activities.

Aerial bombs will be exploded every three minutes starting at 8 p.m., and at 8:30 the dedication of Independence Day will be given by Palm Springs Mayor Florian Boyd.

The invocation will be given by Leon Rosenberg, Rabbi of the Jewish Community Center.

At 8:40 there will be the advancing of the colors by the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, followed by a pledge of Allegiance and National Anthem.

During the National Anthem, the first set-piece, the American Flag, will be fired beginning the show.

Death of Man Found Here Laid To Pneumonia

Police are investigating the death of a man who was discovered early Friday lying on the ground at the back of a home at 735 Date Street.

The victim has been identified as Malcolm E. Davis, about 33 years old, of 260 1/2 Gila Road, a bricklayer. The body was found by Mrs. Frances Feland behind her home.

Police believe he struck his head as he fell to the ground. They found no evidence of foul play.

Cause of death as announced today was bronchial pneumonia by Deputy Coroner Robert Drake. Weifels & Son Mortuary has located only one survivor, his mother, Mrs. Irene Stevenson of Tacoma, Washington.

Application Planned for Direct Television Reception Station Here

Direct television reception from a broadcasting tower located in the Palm Springs area is a strong possibility, Howard Morris, owner of the Palm Springs Music Company, said today.

Board Accepts $1,500,000 School Budget for Year

A record $1,500,000 preliminary school budget was accepted Thursday night by the Board of Education of the Palm Springs Unified School District.

The proposed budget now goes to the County Superintendent of Schools in Riverside for review.

The local trustees have until July 15 to adopt the budget which will contain any changes that it might be necessary to make, and will hold a public hearing the first week of August before adopting the final budget.

THE 1956-57 BUDGET calls for an increase of $209,324 over last year and, according to Dr. Wallace R. Muelder, superintendent of schools, contemplates raising $806,000 in property taxes, compared with $695,000 during the past fiscal year.

With the increased budget comes an estimated increase of students within the district amounting to 314 over last year, or a record total of 2,523.

THE BOARD Thursday night also set a special "organizational meeting" for Monday, July 2, in the board room of Francis Stevens school.

This meeting was called to hold an election of officers and install the new member of the board, Arnold Rumwell, who will replace Dr. Hugh Stephens.

Acting under recent revised regulations of the Federal Communications Commission, Morris is preparing an application for such a station and has employed electronic engineers who have been scouting this area for the best location for the broadcasting tower.

Morris said the tower would have an output of 10 watts capable of transmitting a clear signal and picture for a radius of 15 miles.

The FCC last week ruled that residents in isolated areas should be given the opportunity of enjoying television broadcasts, and decreed that applications for "translator" stations be permitted. These stations are designed to pick up broadcasts from original sources and convert them to ultra frequencies for rebroadcast to a limited area.

Morris said his engineers have informed him that TV reception in the Palm Springs resort area may be received with nothing more than an 18-inch antenna placed on a roof. In some cases, the inside antenna will be feasible.

"The cost of the station will be approximately $40,000," he said. "This sum will have to be amortized in some manner, and a fee will be asked of those who desire the erection of this station."

Tentatively, the fee has been placed at $2.50 per month. Contracts from the supporters of this station will be sought just as soon as a corporation is formed. The FCC in its amended ruling will not permit any local advertising or interruption of any programs broadcast from a licensed station in metropolitan areas.

Howard is seeking comment from civic minded persons regarding the station.

Negro Grabs Cash Behind Owner's Back

Police Seek Man Seen Throwing 'Checks' From Road

Police are searching the city and surrounding area today for a thief who darted into a grocery store on south Palm Canyon drive and grabbed nearly $1000 in cash and checks from behind the counter. Early Saturday police received a report from Banning by radio that a man was seen on the north city limits standing near the second bridge throwing papers from a small steel box. Police have been searching the area on the possibility the paper may have been the stolen checks.

JOE SULLIVAN, owner of the market, arrived at his store early Friday morning, noticed a Negro sitting on the stoop of the store talking with a small boy, but paid little or no attention to him.

After opening the store, he waited on a couple of customers, and then left the front of the store to go to the rear to start the air conditioning unit.

When he returned he noticed that change was on the floor near the front counter, and saw the cash box was missing.

Looking out the door he saw that the Negro had left and was walking down Palm Canyon Drive with what he thinks was a small box under his arm. A passerby pursued on foot but was unable to catch the suspect.

SULLIVAN SAID he had not touched the cash box since the night before, and apparently the man knew that it was kept under the counter.

The thief missed about $300 in the cash register.

Police said the theft resembled in many ways one earlier this week at Murray's Market at Amado and Indian avenue, where a thief got away with $115.

Yeager Low On Road Job

E. L. Yeager Company of Riverside was low with a bid of $32,100 for the construction of shoulders on each side of portions of State Sign Route 111 for a net distance of 8.6 miles between State Sign Route 74 in the Palm Desert area and the beginning of the divided highway, 0.2 mile southeast of the Chino Creek Bridge in the City of Palm Springs, Clyde V. Kane, district engineer, District VIII Office in San Bernardino, announced.

Construction will cover the areas where unsurfaced shoulders now exist except for three-quarters mile in the vicinity of the proposed Palm Canyon Wash Bridge where improvements will be made under the contract for the bridge.

Traffic will be allowed to pass through he construction area at all times with as little inconvenience as possible as construction will be completed on one side of the roadway before work is started on the other side, Kane said.

About two months will be allowed for completion of the work after construction has been started.

Council Speeds Through New $2,479,245 Budget for '57

Sets Tentative Tax Rate One Cent Higher; C of C Extra Fund Held Up

A tentative tax rate was set by the City Council Wednesday night of $1.293 per $100 assessed valuation compared with $1.28 for the past year, to raise a budget of $2,479,245, an increase of $751,186.

The budget was adopted by the council less than 15 minutes after it was brought up on the agenda. The adoption of the budget was made subject to revision of the tax rate after the city has received word of the amount of the new assessed valuation.

City Manager R. W. Peterson said in his report to the council that the assessed valuation is expected to increase by $4,181,830 and make a total for the coming year of $42,500,000. This figure will provide approximately $66,796 in additional revenue from property taxes in the new budget.

As adopted the budget left out the increase in allocation to the Chamber of Commerce of $10,000, but included its $50,000 budget. The council commented, however, that the Chamber could get the additional funds in January if the money could be found.

Largest changed item in the budget is an increase of $96,205 for additional employees to city staffs. The additions include both personnel that has been approved for hiring during the past year and new personnel. A total of 21 new employees have been approved, bringing the total to 152 full time employees.

Another Unit In L.A.-Indio Expressway Open

Traffic moved over the new Highway 60-70-99 from Garnet to Thousand Palms Thursday, adding another link to a four-lane express highway which this year will be completed from Los Angeles to Indio.

Except for a half-mile strip of two-lane road east of Indian Trail Road, there will be a divided free-way from the east city limits of Banning to Thousand Palms, according to Clyde V. Kane, District Engineer of the State Division of Highways in San Bernardino.

This job was started on June 23, 1954 at a cost of $2,251,559.

The new highway by-passes Garnet slightly to the north, then swings southerly across the old U.S. Highway 99, to run generally parallel to the Southern Pacific Railroad tracks until it rejoins the existing road in Thousand Palms.

Bids have currently been let for a portion of the highway from Thousand Palms to Indio, which will include two bridges.

The deal involved a motel unit as well as the main building containing rental rooms, dining room and coffee shop.

The present Idyllwild Inn was built by Dr. Paul Foster in 1946 to replace a 40-year-old structure that was destroyed by fire the preceding year. It has been a favorite convention spot, and film companies frequently have used it to house actors on location in the San Jacinto Mountains.

SUMMER PACKAGE DEAL

In view of the fact that some unsuccessful attempts have been made to promote summer business in Palm Springs with a "package deal," the experience of Southern Florida with this plan should be interesting. I obtained this information from R. S. Maurer, Vice President of Delta Airlines, which, together with some of the Miami beach hotels inaugurated the plan there.

In 1946 the beautiful hotels of Miami Beach were deserted in the summer time. Delta Airline officials got together with a hotel operator, Warren Freeman, on a plan to induce white collar workers of the North and East to take their summer vacations in Southern Florida. Considered to be a difficult one at the outset, the plan was to get the hotels and airlines to cut rates for the summer months and offer a package deal whereby these people could get a considerably reduced round trip plan fare and hotel accommodations at one price for both. They called it a "Millionaires Dream Vacation." The appeal was that employees could fly the same planes and stay at the same luxurious hotels as a boss at prices they could afford to pay by taking advantage of summer rates.

It is interesting to note how slow the results were at first. Delta sold only 46 package deals the first year—that was in 1947. The plan took on well, however, and the next year they sold 1000. By 1952 more than 6000 people a year were taking advantage of the package deal and last summer the number had jumped to over 16,000.

These figures are for Delta Airlines only. In the meantime both American Airlines and Eastern Airlines had started offering package deals, and almost all of the large hotels were participating in the plan. "It was all made possible," Mr. Maurer said, "by pulling together toward a common goal." He now predicts that the number of tourists traveling under this package deal plan will soon exceed that of the four big winter months.

It is not the only airlines and hotels that are prospering under this plan. Almost every line of business is benefiting directly or indirectly. Instead of the short winter season it used to enjoy, all of Southern Florida is now in a 12 month basis.

Western Airlines has shown an interest in entering into an agreement with Palm Springs hotels for a "summer package deal." It cannot be expected to show a profit the first year, however. The program should be set up on a three or perhaps five year basis. Plans should be worked out well in advance so this is as good a time as any to be giving the matter some thought. It should certainly be worth trying as the first step toward making Palm Springs a year around resort.

AS OTHER EDITORS VIEW THE NEWS

It Can't Happen Here
(Wall Street Journal)

When our reporters burrowed into the economic attitudes of different age groups, we were hardly surprised to find among the younger generation a mood of unalloyed optimism.

For a decade now the fresh college graduate or the returning GI has been greeted with the fatted calf. Business has been booming, jobs plentiful, pay steadily rising, credit easy to come by. For them the difficulties of the Thirties have been just curiosities in the history books, as remote and unreal as the Mississippi Bubble or the panic of '93.

What has been a little bit surprising is that among the older generations too including some of those bloodied in '29 there is a widespread confidence that all our economic troubles are in the past. There are still plenty of gun-shy oldsters, to be sure, but they are quite often dismissed, even by their contemporaries, as congenital pessimists.

This cheerful faith in an untroubled future is due in part, we suppose, to the simple fact of ten years of boom; nothing dismisses caution like success. In greater part, perhaps, it is due to the plain facts any man can see, that this is a rich and growing country which a generation from now ought to be richer yet.

But this optimism is something more than just a faith in the future. It is an attitude that embraces not merely confidence in progress but progress in one unbroken stream. Never again a busted bubble; never, indeed, a bumpy road.

The Dutch And Sukarno
(From The New York Times)

One interesting aspect of Indonesian President Sukarno's recent visit to the United States has received little attention here. This is the reaction of the Dutch public and press to the honors that have been heaped upon a self-proclaimed enemy of our ally, The Netherlands. The Dutch attitude has been surprisingly temperate and gratifying.

The Dutch, in all conscience, could not be expected to be enthusiastic about the Sukarno visit to the United States. It was announced almost immediately after the Indonesians had unilaterally repudiated The Netherlands-Indonesian Union, which was supposed to be an integral part of the independence agree-

And the explanation for that attitude was neatly summed up by one of the confident youngsters. There'll never be another recession, said he, "because no Government can afford to let it happen."

There is certainly plenty of authority for the thought. Politicians have been pounding it into our heads that any economic pauses are just due to the intransigence of Governments; put the right Administration in and it will keep things booming.

The politicians have been supported by learned gentlemen who explain that it's only a matter of technique. Juggle the Government's budget, manipulate the credit supply, massage the gross national product, and all will be well. Wages, business profits, the stock market — everything will be kept onward and upward.

Well, it would be hard to prove this isn't so. You can certainly be sure that at the first sign of any leveling off the experts in the Government will be busy with their juggling and manipulating. And it may be, after all, that they have found at last the elusive secret of perpetual economic motion.

But if so, then they have also repented all past experience and abolished the foolishness of people. The old-timers remember, even if the youngsters can't, that our past economic troubles were brewed by people who overextended themselves in the confident belief that it couldn't happen.

ment. It was started just after the death, in an Indonesian prison, of a Dutch national whom the Dutch felt to have been wrongfully accused and shamefully tried.

In the fact of that, the Dutch comment has been moderate and has shown an immense effort to understand our point of view. Its purport has been that the United States is trying earnestly to promote peace, stability and security in Southeast Asia. Better relations between this country and Indonesia can contribute to that end. The Dutch understand and applaud this. Their attitude is a model of good sense and a useful lesson in good international behavior.

Perhaps it is something new or perhaps I have been missing something—but there seems to be the spirit of Christmas in the air. And here we are already in July with another big holiday due on Wednesday.

Last Monday, June 25, halfway between Christmases, I received three Christmas cards. Of course, they all carried the "belated greetings" motif, and none was ribald. Surprisingly enough, the one from Red Kenyon carried no hint of swimming pools. Maybe he's concentrating on selling peanuts these days.

It's a good idea—Christmas comes but twice a year.

SECRETARY OF STATE Foster Dulles may think he has trouble in the foreign policy field. But wait until he hears from the domestic sector. Men who dismissed his foreign activities with scarcely a thought are going to rise up against him on the home front.

Dulles told a newsmen the other day that one of his greatest relaxations was "doing the dishes."

What's he trying to do? Alienate the husband vote?

LITTLE LEAGUE activities seem to be booming in Palm Springs as well as elsewhere. Heard a fellow expounding the other night on the great good the Little League, Colt and Junior leagues are doing to curb juvenile delinquency.

"Yup," he said, "they are really doing something at last for teenage boys, instead of just lecturing."

"I agree," said a little old lady next to him acidly, "but how about the teenage girls?"

AND ANOTHER GUY at the same party declaimed on juvenile delinquency thus:

"The present generation isn't any worse than when I was a kid. Only they've got more to work with. You couldn't soup up a horse and buggy."

Another man chimed in with: "The trouble with juveniles is that most of us aren't."

HOPE THE ADVERTISING department doesn't see this and delete it as free publicity. However, outside of a bistro en route to the beach yesterday I spotted this license plate: BRU 102.

And, believe it or not, ahead of it, a car with BUD 041.

I like to watch and listen to TV commercials. So much room for comment.

For instance, in a plug for a new cigarette, the inevitable man and woman were depicted lighting a cigarette in the depth of a cool forest.

Smokey, the Bear, won't like that.

ANOTHER PRODUCT has a group singing its name, with the final syllable hitting a high note. Sounds like the cackling of a hen. That commercial will undoubtedly lay an egg.

The metropolitan press last Thursday provided me with splendid ammunition to use on all of those people who say: "My, but it must be hot on the desert where you live."

When they do, I just pull forth a clipping from the LA Times headed: "Two prostrated by Los Angeles heat."

That doesn't happen in Palm Springs, I tell them, becoming immediately unpopular.

POLIO RECORDS THIS YEAR

We are beginning to see evidences of diminution in the total amount of poliomyelitis this year across the entire country.

Through the week ending June 9, 1956, this year, 2,041 cases were reported, as against 2,833 in the same period last year, and against 2,735 as a five-year average. This decrease of 800 cases is rather striking.

We feel that it could have been considerably greater in the amount of diminution if more children had been given the Salk vaccine since its inception. There are still too many mothers and fathers who have a fear that something might result from the use of the vaccine and do not allow their children to have it.

Since the early carelessness in checking the cultures that were grown, and the correction of the methods employed, there have been no cases develop with the vaccine as a causative factor.

At this time the 10 states with the highest rates of incidence are California, Oregon, Nevada, Idaho, Arizona, Texas, Mississippi, Louisiana, Florida and Vermont.

In our own state of California, to the date of June 9, there were 604 new cases in the current year as compared to 477 at this time last year, and we show in this state the largest percentage increase as against last year over any other state in the Union.

It behooves us to come to a point of realization as to the tremendous importance of seeing that all of our children and our young adults receive this vaccination. Not forgetting young pregnant women who also have susceptibility.

We might at this time also point out the patterns which are occurring in other communicable diseases up to the same date, June 9. Remembering of course that these are cases of occurrence, most of whom recover because of our use of serum in their treatment.

In 1955, to this date, there were 649 cases of diphtheria as against 775 in the current year. Remember again that these figures are for the entire United States.

Diphtheria likewise is a preventable disease and through the use of toxin-anti-toxin innoculations should be prevented.

Whooping cough for 1955, to this date June 9, showed 27,736 cases as against 14,591 for 1956. This disease likewise through the use of a form of serum and antibiotics is well controlled.

Scarlet fever in 1955 recorded 85,782 cases against 88,546 cases in 1956. This disease likewise, when recognized early, lends itself to rapid successful treatment with the sulfa drugs, and certain antibiotics.

Measles in 1955 until June 9 had 457,299 cases in comparison to 489,879 in this current year. At one time these four contagious diseases took a heavy toll of life.

Today, failure in giving preventative serums and vaccines, and lack of early diagnosis are the only reasons for the small percentage of deaths that are still found after their names in the mortality lists.

The thought applied to the problem could result in their complete eradication, and it behooves the parents to remember and make certain that these methods, which have been developed in the past several decades be employed to curtail our disabilities and deaths.

Togged out in gay gypsy rags, I was the fortune teller at our church bazaar. Business was brisk as people I knew came in to hear the outlandish things I predicted for them. My last customer, a man, was a stranger to me. Trying to sound particularly mysterious and convincing, I intoned in a deep voice, "I see a buried treasure."

"Oh, I know all about that," the man interrupted testily. "My wife's first husband."

Tex Kidwell, his guitar and melodious voice combine to make one of Palm Springs' greatest troubadours of goodwill. A singing one-man chamber of commerce so to speak.

Tex is presently engaged in the Porter House of the Sherman Hotel in Chicago. Word has reached me that at every given opportunity Tex tells his audience in word or song about the glory of Palm Springs. Frank Bogert who just returned from the Windy City, added that many of our Winter residents and guests make the Porter House a "must" at the slightest excuse.

Remember reading about the exploits of Kidwell in London several years ago and even then he was trying to sell the English on Palm Springs. One day not long after he arrived he was stopped by a bobby, police officer to you and me, and politely informed that no one in that great city is permitted to wear 44's strapped to his sides. Tex had to give up his guns temporarily, or that is until he left Merry Old England but he held on to his guitar.

BOGERT CAME back with some news of El Mirador too. That hotel will open its doors October 12 and will remain open until May 18. That famed hostelry enjoyed its greatest season profit-wise during 1955-56 with a large number of conventions taking the hotel over. The season of 1956-57 will see more organization than ever before meeting at El Mirador.

The first big event will be the California Republican Central Committee, to be followed by the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association. Bill Reichel, who underwent surgery in Chicago and is now out of the hospital on the good road to recovery is responsible for the Republican rally here.

When is the Bob "Hatchman" Bonesteel a-coming to Palm Springs. I still feel his oncoming presence this summer. By the way I also learned that a famous band will take over music-wise at El Mirador this coming season.

All of the above regarding that hotel is sweet music to the ears of merchants and hotel owners in Palm Springs. The more conventions in town, (and everybody was always wondering or guessing how many more at El Mirador) the better for the city. That could be a good excuse for the space above. Or is it?

EARL WILSON:

Best Way to Learn French

NEW YORK—"The best way to learn French," I've always heard, "is to get a French gal."

Something told me that the Beautiful Wife wouldn't quite approve homework of such a first-hand nature in my case—so I chose to confine my studying to an interview with beautiful Nicole Maurey, whom Bing Crosby has called:

"A combination of Marlene Dietrich, Rita Hayworth and a farmer's daughters."

That's the way Mlle. Maurey pronounced it when I asked her to repeat the famous Crosby appraisal. I knew I was on the right track, linguistically, when I heard her say that "mousetail."

Nicole had come to a studio to be photographed.

"What I should wear?" the pretty thing asked, hauling clothes out of a suitcase. "My alligator?"

"Alligator?" I asked in surprise.

"Oui, my alligator-TOR!" Nicole held up a small, tight garment known to show business as a "leotard," it having been named after a French aerial gymnast who presumably wore one and whose name was, of all things, Leotard.

Evidently Nicole had confused leotard with leopard, and in some way got alligator.

WE PROGRESSED nicely from then. Nicole apprised me that in her new picture for RKO which she called "De Bold and De Brave," she played "de engineer."

"The engineer?" I naturally asked.

The bosomy French lass kept pronouncing and chewing "engineer" over and over until it became quite clear she meant "ingenue."

Pronounced "Engenor."

"Have you ever had any trouble with English?" I asked.

"I don't know the boils," she confessed.

"Hal Boyle? I know him well," I boasted.

"You mean the vowels," spoke up a friend of Nicole's.

"Oh yes, not the boils—the vowels!" exclaimed Nicole.

SUDDENLY NICOLE got a pouty look. "I am mad with me," she announced.

"Why are you mad with you?"

"I eat the bawn bawn. I should not eat the bawn bawn!"

And here an RKO spokesman said that, while she isn't under a long-term contract, RKO would like her to be.

supervision, and the first opportunity of escape will see the subject running wild. Maybe it is the result of defiance or to run the fountain of pent up energy into emptiness.

The mother of a teenager came in to tell me about her troubles with a one and only daughter. Investigated by talking to Sgt. Ted Greene of our local police department. Sgt. Greene has an infinite amount of patience with juveniles. I personally believe he understands them better than any person I've met in a long, long time. Logically and in sequence he unfolded the story of this teenage girl to me. When he finished a good portion of the child's waywardness may be placed at the door of the mother.

I could go on for hours on this subject and many others like it but I haven't the room in this column. Sgt. Greene who used to handle nothing else but juvenile problems is now also assigned to the check detail.

I remember when mothers, fathers, school authorities and others complained when under the regime of former Chief Davis, Greene was taken off juvenile work. Nevertheless, parents still call him when he is on or off duty to help them with juvenile problems.

And strange as it may seem to many, most of the kids will confide in him to a much greater degree than they will in their mothers or fathers. Our City Manager Russell Rink who hired Chief Davis permitted the re-assignment of Greene.

He believed that any officer should be capable of taking care of any juvenile problems. Not only I but others will tell you that it takes a certain type of man with a great wealth of understanding and a deep well of patience to cope with such problems and not all officers are capable of that—they are no different that the average adult individual with childhood and teenage tribulations nothing but a memory. Just as they are in your case and mine.

THANKS FOR the quick response in the case of the two Miranda widows. Received several checks which I will turn over to Larry Sitter of O'Donnell Golf Club. Understand two golf clubs are going to give a bit; but remember, no matter how much we give, the total sum to take care of the children and the widows will only tide them over for a short time.

Don't think about the weather. Just button up your overcoat 'cause you might catch a cold.

"Do you think you will be?" I inquired.

"We are disgusting it now," Nicole conceded.

I don't think it's fair to write a piece like this without admitting some errors I make in French.

The B. W. claims that when we flew to Paris the first time, she looked around and said, "Darling, this is Le Bourget," and that I turned to the driver, who'd come from the hotel to meet us, and exclaimed, in bad French, "Charmed to meet you, Monsieur Le Bourget."

Palm Springers to Present Key to City to Miami Mayor

The Adrian Rosen family will leave Palm Springs July 22 for an extended vacation trip to be climaxed before returning here by the presentation of the keys to Palm Springs to the Mayor of Miami Beach, Florida.

Their itinerary will take Esther Rosen, two sons Allan and Steven and Mr. Rosen first to San Francisco, then to Seattle; a boat trip to Victoria and Vancouver, Canada and then on to Banff and Lake Louise. ## "Drunkard" Starting 24th Year

The show that was a hit before gold was discovered in California, "The Drunkard," first unveiled in Boston in 1843 and later produced in 1850 by P. T. Barnum at his American Museum in New York City, will on July 6 start upon its 24th year of continuous playing at the Theatre Mart, Los Angeles. This occasion will mark the 845th performance. The nearest approach to this being "Life With Father," which gave 3218 performances in New York before giving up the ghost.

In September 1953 after much consideration it was decided to present a musical version of the old perennial. With original music by Lorne Huxley and lyrics by Bill Howe "The Wayward Way," with same script, the same characterization and the same "flavor" as the original was brought forth by Producer Mildred Ise and which has been alternating with the old familiar dramatic version ever since. Either way takes the audience back into the days of the last century.

The far famed olio is constantly being changed and new faces added. Jaded Hollywoodians go there just for fun and relaxation. The celebrities have all been there not once but many times. Seventeen marriages have taken place. Close to three million theatergoers from every state in the Union have witnessed the entertainment miracle of the age. Long considered a "must" for visiting tourists, it is fully as popular with the natives. When it will end no man knoweth, least of all the folks around the Theatre Mart.

Stan Joseph and Anthony Joseph, of Stanthony Corporation, have had special guests in the building business, or affiliated interests, to enjoy the amazing features planned for today's home-makers—including the micro-wave oven which cooks without heat, and other features of the famous "California Kitchen."

So the Man Says

A UCLA professor of physical education says that no matter how busy the housewife is with housework, she should get outside exercise besides. Dr. Laurence E. Morehouse pointed out that a track star cannot keep in condition by performing in track meets. Likewise, he said, a housewife can not keep in top condition for housework just by doing housework.

Desert Does Give South Seas Party

Draped fish nets, colored glass balls and porcupine fish lent atmosphere to the Elks lodge Tuesday night when Desert Does entertained their husbands and friends at a South Seas party, with around 80 in attendance. Many of the guests were in costume and had leis hung around their necks on arriving.

Seated at low tables decorated with ferns and flowers, the guests were served spareribs, chicken, shrimp, salad, Chinese noodles, fruit salad and other delicacies by candlelight. Punch was served in a little grass shack. The meal was catered by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Macavinta.

Decorations were in charge of a committee headed by Harry and Trudy Bogart, who were assisted by Charlene McKinney, Jo Cohen, and Hope Studebaker. Program chairman Leona Martin presented Gordon and Ingrid Ayres, of the Arthur Murray Dance Studio, who did exhibition dancing, and Joan Lantz, who played the Hammond organ.

The social evening ends the current season for Desert Does, who will resume their regular meetings in October.

Around Town

with Hildy Crawford

It's coupon clipping time again . . . and time to collect the 1956 dividends, July and August . . . Two bright vacation months to spend . . . at a market value of 62 golden days . . . Cover the typewriter and let it cool off after one of Palm Springs busiest seasons . . . sweep the papers off the desk . . . translate those last few notes into news . . . and fill the circular file with what's left over . . . Flip the desk calendar pages to September 1 . . . and strip the spindle of those last lingering reminders of stories that are still hanging fire . . . Get out those scissors and start clipping coupons . . . It's vacation time . . .

Here's a last invitation . . . reminder of a flood of gay invitations that have poured in this year . . . and this is one I can't accept because I will be far away . . . Katie Nelson sails on the Lurline on July 13 . . . and the invitation is to a stateroom bon voyage party . . . Sounds like fun . . . and Honolulu would have been a wonderful spot to spend those coupons . . . Can't make it though . . .

Via aerea and Poste Italiane is a message from the traveling Costellos . . . bright with foreign stamps and carrying a rubber stamp message . . . "Having a fine time, wish you were here!! John & Gwen" . . . It's really a rubber stamp . . . for they are not wasting precious vacation days scribbling messages to stay-at-home friends . . . You just know those two are having a gay time abroad . . . and it would have been fun to have run across them on their itinerary . . . Wish I were there . . .

A note from Louise Horner from Glencoe, Illinois . . . says she and Maury have purchased some property in Hubbard Woods and are spending hours with their architect . . . planning a ranch house . . . which will be ready for them next May 1 . . . when they return to Glencoe from Palm Springs . . . Louise winds up "Any chance of you and Bill coming this way?" . . . That would be fun too . . . and reminds me of all those wonderful invitations from Chicago friends . . . But, sorry . . . we won't be in Chicago this summer.

Talked with Louise on the telephone the other evening . . . when she called Dorothy Salinger while we were there . . . Maury and Tom White are flying out to the west coast this weekend . . . and will be at Miramar when their friend and mine Captain Gloom Mills retires from the United States Navy with appropriate ceremonies . . .

Here's a publicity release on Laguna's Pageant of the Masters . . . which I always enjoy so much . . . but will miss this summer as it doesn't open until July 14 . . . and we won't be within driving distance . . .

A gay party Saturday evening in the Biltmore Garden Room was hosted by Ed Dillon . . . and was a 10th anniversary celebration for Helen and Jack Kenaston . . . with Virginia and Charles Farrell, Mouseie and Bill Powell and Elizabeth Ornduff of Hollywood in the group . . . A small barbecue at the Frank Bennetts the night before . . . and one at the Farrells on Sunday night also honored Helen and Jack . . . who are among Palm Springs favorite people . . .

The Kenastons and Ed Dillon leave this weekend in Ed's plane . . . flying north to Banff and Lake Louise and Alaska . . . When they return Helen and Jack will take off in their own plane for a Mexican holiday . . . Alaska to Mexico make merry vacation plans . . . but are not for us this summer . . .

From California to Maine . . . from Alaska to South America . . .

from Hong Kong to Oslo, the long way round . . . the globe is scattered with traveling Palm Springers . . . making you wonder who has replaced them here . . . as there are so many cars on Indian Avenue and Palm Canyon Drive and so many people still here . . .

Lunched with Ethel Luccareni at Chi Chi the other noonday . . . and met Chuck Walters on the corner . . . Chuck is very well pleased at the reception "High Society" got at its preview recently . . . and this is something I hope I can do this summer . . . see that picture and hear the Crosby-Sinatra songs . . . Glimpsed Frank Bogert at the Chi Chi, too . . .

Edith Carlson dropped in to say "farewell" . . . a symphony in yellow shorts and shirt and shoes, with straw hat and handbag . . . Edith flies out of Los Angeles July 9 and will sail the 11th on Kungsholm, of the Great White Fleet of Sweden . . . Wish I could be with her on shipboard . . . when she stages a Western style show . . . topped with Palm Springs hats . . . and shows the Palm Springs promotional film . . . This gal works 12 months a year and 24 hours a day promoting Palm Springs . . . But, there's no shipboard for me this summer.

In case you are beginning to wonder about my destination . . . I am off to my favorite Lido Isle for a few days at the seashore . . . and then we are driving to Fayetteville . . . where Bill will attend summer school at the University of Arkansas . . . and I will do some research on a long-neglected book . . . and get a first look at the Ozarks . . .

I'll be back at my desk at The Desert Sun . . . waiting to welcome back all the travelers . . . September 1 . . . Have a good summer . . . wherever you are . . . and give me the scoop on what happens to you . . .

State Employers Get 'Low' Jobless Tax Rate in '57

California employers are virtually assured for the fifth consecutive year of paying state unemployment taxes under the "low" tax rate schedule in 1957, H. W. Stewart, director of employment, announced today.

Stewart based his statement on a current trend of high employment throughout the state, with a record high building of $905,279,126 in the unemployment fund at the present time.

The California Unemployment Insurance Code contains two tax schedules. The general schedule ranges from 1 per cent to 2.7 per cent of payroll. Employers who experience relatively little unemployment pay at the lower rates. The law also provides a "low" tax schedule which ranges from zero to 2.7 per cent. This schedule is effective in those years when the balance in the unemployment fund as of the immediately preceding December 31st equals 7.1 per cent of taxable wages paid by employers subject to the law during the 12-month period ending the previous June 30th.

First Non-Stop Pacific Flight to Leave Here Soon

The first trans-Pacific flight of a scheduled airliner ever to originate in Palm Springs and go directly to an overseas point will leave here at 10 p.m. Aug. 14.

It will consist of a plane load of the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce's Hawaiian Holiday membership contest, and other Villagers taking advantage of Transocean Airlines' special rate.

The non-stop hop will mark another step in this community's transportation development.

The eight-day tour includes air transportation direct from Palm Springs to Honolulu International Airport and return on one of Transocean's fleet of "Royal Hawaiian" four-engined, Douglas Skymasters.

Music and dancing, leis bestowed in the time honored manner, will mark the traditional Hawaiian welcome at the airport. Special limousines will take the group directly to the new Hawaiian Village Hotel on Waikiki Beach.

The Transocean tour conductor, especially assigned to the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce, will be available to provide help to each of the members of the group in planning special outings, tours, shopping and dining information.

Daily escorted activities include a Hawaiian luau at Queen's Surf, outrigger canoe rides, scenic motor tour to the Punchbowl, Mount Tantalus, with lunch at the Waioli Tea Room in Manoa Valley, a tour through one of the Island's several major pineapple canneries and many other events.

Optional tours, such as the tour of the Garden Isle of Kauai, or the Orchid Island of Hawaii, may be arranged at any time through the tour conductor.

George Olman of Olman Travel Service here today urged those desiring reservations to contact him. He said the cost, including transportation, hotel, daily activities, limousines, is $284, plus $23.50 tax. Those wishing to spend more time on the Island may do so and the Hawaiian Village will continue the special rate of $8.50 for two. There will be no change in the plane rate.

In March 1954, two enlisted waves were selected for officer training, beginning a program to integrate outstanding enlisted waves into the officer grade.

WHERE PALM SPRINGS "holiday" travellers will get traditional Hawaiian welcome.

Comes a breath of languid tropic air from the "Paradise of the Pacific," where our President, Theresa Press, now sojourns surrounded with pineapple and pikahiki, in the form of a letter to Honorable Flojano G. Boyd, Mayor, City of Palm Springs, and from Neal S. Blaisdell, Mayor, City and County of Honolulu.

With Mayor Boyd's permission in our busy list of the facts, we are going to quote the letter, it speaks so well of our Ambassador of Good Will, President Press... Says Mayor Blaisdell...

"Dear Mayor Boyd:
"I had a very enjoyable visit this morning with your very charming ambassador of good will Mrs. Theresa Press... She certainly is a real booster of the City of Palm Springs and came very near selling me on the wonders and beauty of your lovely city."

"Please accept my genuine appreciation for your letter of greetings together with the printed material on your fair city. In return, I extend to you greetings and warmest aloha from the people of the Paradise of the Pacific."

"In our conversation this morning, I tried very hard to sell Hawaii to Mrs. Press but she was so busy selling Palm Springs to me that I hardly made any impression on her."

"Funny part about all this... if the information we had is correct... this was one Realtor trying to sell another on their own home town... Looks as though we are just a little ahead in the running, thanks to Theresa..."

Tip to Builders... (Count the kids): "TV and kids will mean bigger, more elaborately equipped kitchens, smaller living rooms, vanishing dining rooms... Government Housing Chief Albert M. Cole reports many women have ruled out a small kitchen... They want space for the children."

How small businesses can plan their working capital requirements for good financial operation, is explained in a new leaflet announced today by Donald McLarnan, regional director of the Small Business Administration for Southern California and Arizona.

The leaflet, "Planning Your Working Capital Requirements," is number 74 in the Small Business Administration's series of Management Aids for Small Manufacturers, and can be obtained free upon request from the Agency's office located at 1631 South Broadway, Los Angeles 15, Calif.

The leaflet illustrates the importance of working capital and outlines a suggested method for developing an operating budget.

Deplores Dearth Of Engineers In Missiles, Rockets

The acute shortage of graduate engineers who are coming to the guided missile and rocket field is one of the most frustrating bottlenecks on the modern aeronautical frontier, according to Herbert H. Stickney, Director of Administration for the Grand Central Rocket Company of Redlands.

That is the organization named by the Defense Department and the Martin Company of Baltimore to design, develop and test the incredible third-stage rocket motor installation for the earth satellite Project Vanguard. It is this racket which the scientists of the World expect to thrust the man-made satellite into its orbit 300 miles above the earth at a speed of 18,000 miles per hour.

IF MR. STICKNEY had his way about it, he would make it compulsory for high school and junior college students, who have the aptitude, to master mathematics and physics, and would encourage their voluntary application for at least freshman chemistry.
"It is easy enough to measure aptitude," he says, "and where aptitude exists, there need be no profound or insurmountable mystery about the fields of mathematics and physics. All it requires is hard work and the determination on the part of the student to meet the challenge."

Furthermore, it is the opinion of the Grand Central executive that responsibility for much of the existing crisis lies with the educators who are failing to force the issue with their students.

Entertaining a group of high school teachers at his company's plant recently, Mr. Stickney told them: "We are forgetting that engineering is merely a practical application of certain basic sciences and we simply must devise some means, or some pressure, to halt the drop in the number of students who are ignoring math, physics and chemistry."

"WE HAVE TO combat youth's tendencies to take the easy course. If the high school and junior college educators can accomplish that much for us, then industry has at least a basis from which we can get the problem in hand; but we are going to have to emphasize the vital importance of post graduate work in physics and higher mathematics."

The dearth of qualified graduates in the three basic sciences, he explained, is throwing a work burden on the men who are qualified. "One current solution," he said, "is to back our top engineering brains with capable young administrative assistants. We simply have to free our top men of administrative detail so they can think—which is the reason we hired them in the first place."

Scientists Row Over Height of Mount Everest

LONDON — While climbers are beginning to scale Mount Everest like monkeys up a fire ladder, the scientists still can't agree on exactly how high that mountain is and now there's a fuss.

GULATTEE CALLS it 29,028 feet. Hunter makes it 29,040.

Sir Andrew Waugh ventured 29,002 back in 1845. Sir Sidney Burdard's 1910 measurements sweetened it to 29,032 and Guy Bomford got it up to 29,050 less than a quarter of a century ago.

This indicates they have it pretty well pegged, but precision is expected of scientists and the results of Gulattee's 1954 survey did not get past Hunter unnoticed.

HUNTER HAD expected great things of Gulattee because a crusty maharaja had barred all earlier scientists, including Hunter, from entering Nepal and they had to shoot bearings from 100-odd miles away and figure the angles at long range.

But Gulattee was able to get right up next to the mountain in Nepal with his slide rule and triangulation charts. But that still didn't do it, Hunter alleged in the Geographical Journal. He commented:

1. "One may regret that (Gulattee's) longitudes were not observed with an impartial instrument."
2. "Mr. Gulattee's paper is headed 'Outline of The New Method'... There is, however, nothing new in the method."
3. "Mr. Gulattee adopts the role of critic of some of his predecessors... It is indeed unfortunate that in presenting the results of important work, he has signally failed to acknowledge how very essentially he has depended on earlier workers."

4. "He has also been guilty of plagiarism."
This was heady stuff for such an august journal. Its readers had to wait a year for Gulattee's rebuttal in the issue. He wrote:

1. "Dr. Hunter gives a highly provocative review of my recent technical paper... This review is clothed in an authoritative style, and yet, besides intemperate comments due to confused thinking, it contains a number of serious misstatements."
2. "Hunter has always claimed that he discovered the basic formula for the coefficient of refraction... In fact, the formula was discovered by Helmholtz in 1879."

3. "Mr. Hunter is very hurt that I have not referred to his figure or to his paper... This is more or less a replica of his lecture before the Indian Science Congress in 1922 and contains the same errors and fallacies."

4. "Nature does not admit of such spurious simplicity as some of the 'sweeping statements' made by Hunter 'with immense self-assurance.'"
5. "Hunter's height for Everest is a confused height obtained from incomplete data."
6. "These problems do not permit of such imprecise handling."
7. "Dr. Hunter's unbalanced innuendoes in a journal of high repute are, to say the least, undignified."
So there, after all these years, sits the issue.

The Good... and... The Bad

IN THE WEEK'S NEWS
By UNITED PRESS

THE GOOD
1. SECRETARY OF STATE John Foster Dulles said in Washington that the whole Communist world had been shaken by the official Soviet Russian disclosure of Josef Stalin's crimes.

Speaking at a press conference, Dulles said that non-Russian Communist Parties had shown "a very high state of dissatisfaction" with the present Kremlin leadership. "The ties that have bound these local Communist parties to the Kremlin have been very much shaken and loosened," he said.

Dulles asserted also that there is even "grave discontent and dissatisfaction" in the Russian party itself. He hinted that the leadership of Nikita S. Khrushchev, leader of the party, might have been weakened.

2. GEN. NATHAN F. TWining, chief of staff of the Air Force, did some plain speaking after his arrival in Moscow on a visit to the Soviet Air Force.

He said at a reception that the United States "completely disbanded" its armed forces after World War II. It was then necessary, Twining said, to build the forces again for the Korean War. "We are not going to reduce (again) until we are sure of world-wide arms control," he said.

3. THE UNITED NATIONS Security Council rejected a demand by 13 Arab and Asian countries that it debate the issue of French rule in Algeria.

The vote was seven to two, with

Nationalists: China and Yugoslavia abstaining. The council majority took the view that U.N. interference could only impede a settlement of the dispute.

THE BAD
1. RIOTS AND STRIKES, and reported assassination plots, threatened trouble in several Latin American republics.

In Guatemala, the government said it had unearthed a Communist subversive plot. Four persons were killed in anti-government riots, undoubtedly fomented by the Communist underground, in Guatemala City. The government imposed a state of siege, comparable to martial law.

In Peru, riots accompanied a nationwide strike by 100,000 unionized workers. The government was compelled to suspend constitutional guarantees.

Strikes broke out in the big copper and nitrate mines in Chile. There were reports of plots to assassinate president Fulgencio Batista of Cuba and president Juscelino Kubitschek of Brazil.

2. ANTI-AMERICAN parties won a parliamentary election in Iceland, where the United States has important air bases.

The anti-American coalition, which demands that the United States forces be ousted, failed to win a majority in parliament, but the Communists now hold the balance of power.

Officials in Washington said that the United States will withdraw if a formal demand is made after the formation of a new government.

3. EXTREMIST VIOLENCE intensified in Cyprus at a moment when the British government planned an attempt to renew negotiations on the future of the island.

Extremists who demand that Cyprus be given to Greece bombed the automobile of a United States consular officer.

They had killed a United States vice consul in a bombing on June 16.

Village's Laboratory Detective Does Much to Solve Crime Here

By FRED C. WEIGEL
If you think crime might pay, remember there are men who can see through the best alibi and can use the tools of their trade to positively prove innocence or guilt.

This small group of "crime detectors" are spread throughout the United States and the world, and though little recognition comes their way, their work is not limited to any specific hours in a day, but when robbery, burglary, murder and accidents happen, they are on the job.

These men are known as identification bureau and laboratory technicians.

In Palm Springs, the bureau is run by stocky, middle-aged Richard A. Addison, who for almost 30 years has been involved in crime detection.

His story is a unique one. Late in the 1920's, he worked in the San Diego Zoo. One day he thought of a publicity stunt that would bring thousands of persons to the zoo. His idea was to fingerprint all the apes in the zoo, and keep a record of them. The San Diego police sent a man to the zoo to do the job.

Prior to working for the San Diego zoo, and following his discharge from the Army after World War I, Addison took on the job of investigator for newspaper magnate William Randolph Hearst, at his home at San Dimas, Calif.

Addison left Fort Lauderdale after his retirement from the force, and came to California, where he took over as instructor at Brooks Institute of Photography in Santa Barbara.

Here he taught every phase of criminal detection with all the instruments used by a lab technician—cameras, fingerprinting kits, plaster-casting, spectroscopes and many others.

In 1954, Addison took a job with security at the University of California at Santa Barbara.

THE LOCAL department hired Addison in March of 1955, and put him in charge of the lab, and Palm Springs has been congratulated by law enforcement agencies throughout the country for the job it has done in this field.

Chief of Police August G. Kettmann has put the lab at the disposal of all local law enforcement agencies that need it.

To illustrate the job done by this branch of law, a typical crime laboratory technician, take this hypothetical case:

Police Report: An automobile with bullet holes in the right windshield and side front window has been found, wrecked and off the road at Junction point just inside the city limits. There are "blood stains" in the back seat of the car, but no one is near or at the scene of the accident. No identification in or around the car.

On receipt of this report investigating officers roll to the scene. After surveying the situation, they call the lab unit, and the technician arrives with his equipment. He photographs the scene from every angle, takes latent prints from the steering wheel, doors, dashboard, and rear-view mirror, he takes samples of the "blood" in the back seat, photographs the bullet holes in the windows, and checks for and makes casts of footprints and tire marks around the scene.

FROM THIS process he is able to deduce:

"The car was being driven by the only occupant of the car, and as he drove the car he fired a .32 caliber pistol out the side of the car (bullet holes in the glass indicated that the gun had been fired from the inside), that the car was going 52 miles-per-hour at the time it smashed (the speedometer cable had broken and jammed the hand at that speed), and through fingerprint identification the owner of the car was not driving it; in fact it had been stolen and the owner had not yet noticed it.

Using the benzidine blood test, it proved negative to human blood, and further tests showed that it was fruit juice.

Identification of the driver was made through fingerprint files, and the investigation by the lab technician showed by (photos) that the car had hit another car or object before going out of control (by plaster casts of prints) that the driver had left the scene of the accident, probably not injured.

THIS IS THE general idea of how the police lab technicians do their job, and the important part this job plays in criminal investigation.

Addison knows his job exceedingly well, but like most men has a favorite hobby. His is making movies.
